Try These.

Try molasses for grass stains.
Throw flour on kerosene flames.
Ripe tomatoes remove ink stains.
A hot shovel held over varnished furniture takes out white spots.
Try sprinkling powdered cloves about places infested by red ants.
Chloroform removes paint from garments or elsewhere.

Try buttermilk for the removal of tan and freckles; if that is not efficacious, try sandpaper.

On toning bath tied over the tops of jars containing preserves helps to keep them from molding or working.

Iron rust is removed by salt mixed with a little lemon juice, then put in the sun; if necessary use two applications.

To cool a watermelon:—If the refrigerator is too small to hold a watermelon which you wish to keep cool, roll the melon in wet cloths and place it in the sun. The process of evaporation will cool the melon. Wet the cloth on the outside as it becomes dry.

A pleasant hot weather drink that may be kept in readiness in one's cellar or refrigerator is made by mixing two ounces of tartaric acid, two pounds of white sugar, the juice of a lemon, and a quart and a half of water. Boil five minutes and when nearly cold add the whites of three eggs, half an ounce of flour, and half an ounce of wintergreen essence. Beat with an egg-beater until the ingredients are thoroughly mixed, and bottle. When ready to drink, put two tablespoonsful of the syrup in a glass, a bit of ice, and a fourth of teaspoonful of bicarbonate of soda. Fill with water and drink at once.

Some people talk about what a happy place heaven is, and do nothing to make their homes resemble it.

One of the boys who smoked cigarettes has quit. His reason as given by himself was that for a long time whenever he passed an undertaking establishment with a "coffin nail" in his mouth the undertaker put on a pleasant smile and spoke to him in a very pleasant way. He says he couldn't understand it for a long time and he sees it all now. He believes that they looked upon him as the next victim and for that reason treated him as nice as they knew how. When he got that into his head he quit short off.—(Carrollton Democrat.)

Preparing Ground for Wheat

A writer in the "Indiana Farmer" says: The best soil for wheat is a rather compact, clayey loam, well drained; but sandy soil can be made to produce fair crops by good culture. To prepare ground it should be broken deeply, not later than the middle of August; earlier would be better. While the breaking should be deep, we must not forget to do it in time, so that the crop of green stuff turned under, let it be weeds, clover or whatever it may, will have sufficient time to be well decayed and the soil settled into proper condition to sow. All weeds should be kept down after breaking till time for sowing, by frequent harrowings and rolling, by which time the soil will be fine and free from clods. To prepare ground, if the corn has been cultivated, as it should be, it can be got in good order by running the cultivator deep and close over the ground crossways, if the corn was drilled, so as to tear up the corn stubble better; and then harrow both ways and roll. If not in right condition to sow I harrow and roll until it is right, for nothing is lost by getting the ground in condition before seeding to any kind of seed. But if the corn can be got off out of the way in time, I prefer breaking the corn ground and then working down to the right condition by means of a good harrow and rolled as stated above. A seed bed for wheat should be broken deep and then packed by harrowing and rolling, but the harrow should be run ahead of the drill to furnish loose, fine dirt to cover the wheat, which should not be deeper than one and one half inches. The best time for sowing has been for the last few years from the first until about the middle of September.

As to quantity, one and one-fourth bushel to the acre is the best. As to fertilizer, about 150 or 200 pounds of good raw bone should be drilled with the wheat to make a good crop.

Whoever has a bad habit has a master.

We best serve ourselves when we best serve others.

The man who hasn't a God to worship, worships himself.

A fault will attract more attention to us than a virtue.

The man who has the "big head" often wears a small hat.

The spots we see on others are nearly always on our own glasses.

Every man who does wrong is helping to lead an army of boys astray.

The man who is sure that there is no hell will generally be found trying to make one.

It will be time enough to talk about giving up the Bible when we find something better to take its place.

The man who is trying to hide behind a hypocrite now, will not do it in the judgement.

Excelsior Slate Paint is better than any other paint. Why? On tin roofs it makes an even, smooth body; does not crack or curl. On shingles it goes up under the ends and sides one-half inch or more and goes in the wood making it as hard as slate, which no other paint will do. Paint guaranteed to stand on tin roof three years, on shingle roofs five years.

If a roof does not stand and needs painting, I will repaint it free of charge. C. F. FRAZER, Kirksville, Mo.

Dr. Sawyer—Dear Sir: Having used your Pastilles, I can recommend them to the public; I have been attended by four different doctors, but one and a half boxes of your medicine has done me more good than all the others. Mrs. Mary Johnson, ward & Finley Bronson, Branch Co. Mich.

Mustang Liniment has been used for one-half a century.
